

Industry Proposes Limit Of 8 Percent On New Pay Raises

By HAROLD W. WARD
WASHINGTON (AP)—An industry members of the wage stabilization board, determined to fight off a new round of postwar wage increases, proposed today that the government limit future pay raises to eight per cent above Jan. 15, 1950, levels.

The three management representatives on the nine-man board said they hoped to allow only "catch-up inequities" of that size in future contracts. But they would agree to another review of the wage picture next June. Since V-J day in August 1945, there have been four or five, general pay-boost movements, depending on the point of view.

Hunting For Formula
The wage stabilization board, headed by Cyrus S. Ching, is striving to devise a formula by which the Jan. 25 freeze on wages can be relaxed for the long mobilization pull.

Here's how the board's three-way membership splits on methods of dealing with the wage dilemma:

Labor members—they want at least 12 per cent above the wage levels prevailing just before the Korean war started on June 25, 1950. On top of that, they would allow cost-of-living adjustments by contract or by board approval to cover such cases as the auto industry's agreement, which netted the CIO-Auto Workers 10 cents more an hour in 1950 and probably will yield another nickel an hour before June 1. # Lansing Solons Get First Look At Fire Ruins

Plans For Rebuilding
Offices Studied

LANSING—(AP)—The state administrative board today ordered the fire-damaged two top floors of the Michigan state office building stripped off.

The board made no decision as to whether the building should be roofed at that point or whether the two top floors should be rebuilt.

The board delayed a decision on that question after Senator Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) objected that the legislature wished to consider that problem further.

Roof Decision Delayed
Porter also objected to any immediate decision on remodeling the interior of the structure.

State building director A. N. Langius said that if the highway department and state library were not put back in the office building and the building were roofed at the sixth floor with a remodeling of the interior the structure would have as much or more office space than it did before last week's $4,500,000 fire.

Legislators were to make their first inspection of the gutted building today.

The legislative contingent was to be headed by a House committee investigating the fire. All members of the legislature were invited to make the trip by Lansing Fire Chief Hugh Fisher. He made the suggestion at yesterday's opening hearing before the investigating committee.

"I would like everyone to see the conditions under which we had to work," he said. "The lack of windows, absence of doors and the weller of locked mesh cages containing bales of files and records on the mezzanine floor where the 45-hour fire started Thursday made it a humanly impossible job to fight the fire," he said.

Youth Still In Jail
He told the committee there was ample time for the safe removal of much of the files and equipment from the first three floors before water damage got serious if some state official had taken charge of the operation.

Assistant Chief Charles Decker of Lansing said assistance was not called for from neighboring cities for eight hours after the fire started because he did not believe it was needed until then.

Meanwhile, Richard C. Shay, 19-year-old highway department employee, who has admitted set-

Central Front Chinese Killed By Thousands

Sneak Troops Mowed
Down By Americans

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO — (AP) — South Korean marines landed today at the big North Korean east coast port of Wonsan in a surprise raid under cover of a strong Allied naval bombardment.

Wonsan is 90 miles inside Red territory above parallel 38 on the sea of Japan.

On the flaming Central Korean front, American, French and Dutch forces inflicted a staggering toll on Chinese and Red Korean divisions striving for a breakthrough along a 20-mile-wide sector.

Stumble Into Ambush

A field dispatch said the Allied defenders shattered two Communist divisions "in a welter of blood, bombs and shellfire." It added:

"The Chinese dead lay by the thousands on all sides of surrounded Chipyong. Other thousands were heaped up also in the river valley eight miles west-northwest of Wonsan where they stumbled into a murderous air and artillery ambush."

On the Western Front, American doughboys mowed down 1,152 Red Korean sneak troops who had crossed the Han river and slipped inside allied lines. They captured nearly 250 more Communist soldiers.

American machine-guns cut down fleeing remnants of the Red Korean force as they tried to splash back across the Han. Allied losses were reported small.

Civilians Are Shield

U. S. 25th Division troops wiped out two Red patrols who were stalking boldly across Sand Island, a sandbar in the Han between Seoul and its industrial suburb, Yongdungpo.

The 60 Reds in the patrol used Korean civilians as a shield at a signal, the civilians dropped to the ground and the Reds fired at

Long-Range Draft Plan Polished Up

By ROWLAND EVANS, Jr.
WASHINGTON (AP)—An unprecedented long-range draft program was polished up today for inspection by the full Senate armed services committee, with approval apparently certain.

Senator Lyndon Johnson, chairman of a subcommittee which steered the bill through extensive hearings, hoped a unanimous vote would speed the bill to the Senate, where a long and heated debate is probable.

The Texas Democrat called the bill "A wholly fair piece of legislation which can be a solid cornerstone to a half century of American strength."

The measure would: Drop the draft age to 18; extend the term of service to 26 months and five days (or 24 months if the draftee took no leave); and set up a long-range universal training and service program.

In another top congressional development today, House tax writers asked for advice from two key economic officials on meshing two big defense programs: President Truman's request for an immediate $10,000,000,000 in new taxes; and the price stabilization program.

Eric Johnston, stabilization director, and Michael V. DiSalle, price boss, whipped up economic state-of-the-union figures for the war means committee.

"Taxes and controlling inflation are in the same bucket," said Rep. King (D-Calif.), the committee member responsible for inviting the two officials to air their tax views.

Meanwhile, Senator Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the Senate foreign affairs committee, warned he would not permit interference with congressional action on the troops-to-Europe issue.

A combined foreign affairs-armed services committee he heads starts hearings tomorrow on that hot question.

Dulles Discusses Jap
Peace Treaty With Australian Officials

DARWIN, Australia (AP)—State Department Adviser John Foster Dulles stopped briefly in Darwin today, enroute to Canberra for talks with officials of Australia and New Zealand on a possible Japanese peace treaty.

During a five-day stay in Australia, Dulles also will discuss the Pacific defense pact which Australia's external affairs minister Percy C. Spender has consistently advocated.

Arriving here from Tokyo and Manila in a U. S. Air Force Constellation, Dulles told newsmen he could not forecast when a Japanese peace treaty might be signed.

He also refused to express an opinion on the possibility of a Pacific pact, saying only that he wanted to hear Australia's viewpoint.

In Canberra Dulles will confer with Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, as well as with Spender and with New Zealand external affairs minister Frederick W. Doidge.

Engineer Absolved In Killing Of Five At Grade Crossing

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Municipal Judge John Loucks yesterday dismissed charges against Chesapeake & Ohio railroad engineer John Reed in the accident deaths last December of a Grandville mother and her four children.

The 60-year-old engineer had been accused of negligent homicide after his freight train demolished Mrs. Kathryn Smith's auto at a grade crossing. Mrs. Smith and four of her five children were fatally injured.

The judge granted a defense motion that contended there was no reason to believe the train was traveling at excessive speed or had violated a city speed ordinance.

Jack Benny 39 Again; Born Back In 1894

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jack Benny is 39 again today.

The comic, a valentine's day gift to Waukegan, is probably the only 39-year-old who admits he was born in 1894.

He'll celebrate quietly he says, at home with his wife of 24 years, Mary Livingstone.

His age of 39 has been a running gag for years, but this actuality is the one-time boy violinist's 39th year in show business.

Snoopers Given Tip By McCarthy

Farm Raid Snatches
Documents Of IPR

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) reportedly supplied the tip which prompted Senate internal security investigators to seize thousands of documents in a surprise raid on a Massachusetts farm.

The papers belonging to the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR) were grabbed under subpoena last week by an agent of a new Senate judiciary subcommittee set up to investigate subversive activities.

The IPR is an organization which was founded in the mid-twenties with the idea of increasing knowledge and friendship among the people of the Pacific area.

The institute figured prominently in last year's Senate inquiry into McCarthy's Communism-in-government charges. The Wisconsin lawmaker contended the IPR had been infiltrated by Communists and fellow travelers, and he said some of those he accused held influential positions in the organization.

Those he named included Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, a key adviser to Secretary of State Acheson; Owen Lattimore, Far Eastern affairs expert and occasional adviser to the state department; and Frederick Vanderbilt whether he ever was a Communist. Field is now under indictment here for contempt of Congress.

McCarthy, it was learned, advised the judiciary subcommittee about the middle of last week that a big batch of IPR records was stored in a barn on a farm near Lee, Mass. The subsequent raid by the subcommittee was announced by the group Friday.

Link-Up Of Arms Cut And Atomic Controls Suggested For U. N.

By STANLEY JOHNSON
LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—A new United Nations committee meets today to take up President Truman's suggestion that the U. N. combine talks on atomic energy control and world reduction of other weapons.

The 12-man group will report back to the 1951 general assembly on the feasibility of such a combination.

Russia has always demanded the link-up. The U. S. insisted on separate handling until President Truman suddenly reversed his stand in a speech to the U. N. last October.

Special urgency is given to the committee's work by the belief, widely held here, that recent U. S. atom tests in Nevada were of atomic war-heads for conventional arms.

In view of current world tension, however, there is little hope that any substantial progress can be made toward international control within any framework.

Today's meeting is scheduled to open with an address by Secretary General Trygve Lie, then proceed to organizational work. Frank Nash will represent the United States.

Invited To Paris
Other members of the committee are Britain, Brazil, Canada, China, Ecuador, France, India, The Netherlands, Russia, Turkey and Yugoslavia.

They met the day after the U. N. gave the U. S. two resounding votes of confidence.

The general assembly showed its disbelief of Russian charges of American aggression against Formosa by throwing the complaint out 48 to 5, with Burma, Indonesia and Yugoslavia abstaining.

The assembly then refused 51 to 5 to denounce the U. S. for alleged American bombings of Red Chinese territory along the Yalu river, Afghanistan and Yugoslavia abstained.

Delegates not represented on the committee of 12, meanwhile, turned their attention to Paris, where the national assembly is reportedly discussing a bill inviting the U. N. to meet there next fall.

Lloyd C. Douglas Taken By Death

Heart Disease Fatal
To 'The Robe' Author

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lloyd C. Douglas, 73, author of some of the most controversial and widely read religious novels of the century, died last night of heart disease.

He had suffered from arthritis since 1944 and his condition had grown steadily worse in recent months. He was admitted last Sunday to Good Samaritan hospital, where he died.

Douglas' greatest books were "The Magnificent Obsession," his first, published in 1929, and "The Robe," printed in 1942. In the period between them were numerous best sellers, including "Green Light," "White Banners" and "Disputed Passage," which were filmed.

His last work was "The Big Fisherman," a sequel to "The Robe." Douglas refused to allow a movie to be made of "The Big Fisherman," apparently because of the treatment "The Robe" received in Hollywood. Handling of the book for the films was debated for years. Finally, after $750,000 was poured into the enterprise, the picture was dropped.

Douglas' books caused much discussion because of their personal approach to religion. He once told a reporter that "The Magnificent Obsession" started out as an essay on "personal expression through private philanthropy."

Used Car Sales Tax Snarled Up

Higgins Senate Bill
Hangs In Balance

LANSING (AP)—The Higgins bill to levy a new tax on used car sales hung in the balance in the Senate today.

The chamber debated the proposal yesterday and held it in position for more debate today, with prospects for an immediate vote dim.

Already it was getting snarled in the long-smouldering fight over raising gasoline taxes two cents a gallon as proposed by the Michigan Good Roads Federation. The used car tax also would go for highway purposes.

Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale), the sponsor, said "if you want to do something for the roads and get rid of the chiselers in the auto trade, this is the way to do it."

His bill would levy a tax of three per cent on the privilege of buying a used car. The tax would have to be paid before a title transfer could be obtained.

A proposed constitutional amendment to make new laws effective 90 days after passage was defeated in the House yesterday 29-55.

The proposal, which had passed the Senate, would have supplanted the present provision making new laws effective 90 days after adjournment of the legislature.

MacArthur Unlikely To Get Authority For Korean Victory

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials here see little chance that Gen. Douglas MacArthur will get the power and authority he considers necessary to achieve complete victory over the Chinese Communists in Korea.

The expected dispatch of American troops to Western Europe, a wide-spread desire in high places here for a reasonable Korean settlement if possible, the determination to avoid spreading the war—all these factors seem certain to work against fulfillment of the conditions described by MacArthur as essential to success.

Calling For Showdown
In a Tokyo statement following a battlefield visit, the allied commander yesterday described the situation this way: Recent U. N. advances have been merely tactical successes; it is academic now to talk about a massive drive across the 38th parallel into North Korea; such a drive would require offsetting the numerical superiority of the Communists with their protected bases in Manchuria.

His own estimate indicated that steps necessary to a military victory would require (1) a substantial enlargement of U. N. forces to more nearly equal those of the foe and (2) authority to bombard positions and communications of the Chinese troops in Manchuria.

Neither Side Can Win
Officials decided some time ago that neither the Communists nor the U. N. forces could win a clear-cut, decisive victory in Korea. The Chinese have too many men and the U. N. troops too much fire power, according to this estimate.

What is hoped for here is that the Chinese Reds will come to the same decision and so agree to ne-

12th Annual Escanaba Ice Show Opens At Indoor Rink Tonight

150 Figure Skaters Will Perform In Gala Revue

"Ice Varieties of 1951." Escanaba's 12th annual community ice show opens at the indoor rink here tonight with a cast of 150 trained figure skaters performing in 26 separate acts.

A highlight of the children's show tonight will be coronation of Miss Joan Johnson, queen of the 1951 Ice Varieties.

The show tonight begins at 8:15 p. m., and coronation will follow immediately after the production. No special tickets will be needed to witness the coronation ceremonies.

Arrangements are being made to have U. S. Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin confer the crown on the ice show queen.

New Show Times
The Ice Varieties will be presented nightly at 8:15 p. m. through Saturday and at 2:15 p. m. Sunday, under sponsorship of the Escanaba Recreation department. Mrs. Jeannette LeCarpentier, former skater for the Dorothy Frayne professional troupe again directs the production. Mrs. Hilmar Turquist assisted in training skaters this year.

Skaters will wear colorful costumes, many of which were made by a costume committee headed by Mrs. Bertha LaChapelle and Mrs. Roy Estenson. About 50 per cent of the costumes were rented.

Bill Clark of this city again will play organ music for the production. Two tunes written by Escanabans will be featured in the extravaganza. One is "The Welcome Song" by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. (Bill) Clark, which will open the show, and the other is "Bean Bag Rag" written by Larry Alberts (Vanderlinder) and Al LaGuire.

Seven Soloists
Interesting properties have been constructed for the show under chairmanship of Fred Johnson. Seven large production numbers and 19 acts are programmed for the 1951 production.

Al LaGuire will be master of ceremonies for the show, in which seven soloists also will be featured. Skaters who will do solo work this year are Pvt. Robert Schwalbach, former Ice Capades skater who is on leave from Fort Bliss, Texas; Carolyn Johnson, who also will skate in a duet with Schwalbach; Mary Goodreau, Billy Goodreau, Patsy Davis, Paty Saul and Donna Sullivan.

Peter C. Dube, 72, former trainer for world champion Bobby McLean, will give an exhibition of speed skating in tonight's presentation. Later this week Dube, who has been skating since he was eight years old, will probably compete with an Alpena skater who has accepted Dube's challenge to race against anyone in the world over 50 years of age.

Comedy Numbers
Dube, former trainer for the Lake Placid, N. Y. Owl club and instructor at the Chicago arena, is the oldest skater in the show. The youngest is tiny Helen Jeanne LeCarpentier, 25-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle LeCarpentier of this city. Helen Jeanne, who is on her second pair of skates, will participate in a number titled "Old Woman in a Shoe," a Mother Goose fantasy in which Mrs. Fred Swank is the woman in the shoe.

Several comedy numbers are programmed, and included in these are one by Bill and Jim Crofts, a ballet number with four men as ballerinas, and "Sideshow of New York," in which spectators will see skaters long familiar in Escanaba. The Cleve Moore family, John Nystrom and Earl Chevrete are among participants in this number.

Talent Scouts Invited
During the show four vocalists, Bernard Ammel and two of his sisters, Mrs. Ivan Kobasic and Mrs. Ray Olson, and Miss Marquita Lieuhent will sing. A different type finale will bring the show to a close this year. All skaters will return to the blue-white rink for the closing number, "Watching the Trains Come In." Among show tunes to be used in the number are "California, Here I Come," "Winter Wonderland," "Manhattan Serenade," "Deep in the Heart of Texas," "Alabama Bound," and "Freedom Train." Music for the entire revue was selected and arranged by Bill Clark.

Talent scouts again have been invited to attend the Escanaba ice show. Last year four Escanaba skaters received contracts with Ice Capades, following the community show. They were Glenn Falmer, now home because of an injury; Joanne Beck and Jean Farrell, who currently are with the Ice Capades company at Hershey, Pa., and Pvt. Schwalbach, who was drafted after spending three months with the Capades at Atlantic City, N. J.

The skaters who hit professional shows last year, after receiving initial training in the revues here, brought the Escanaba professional figure skater list to seven. Others are Jon Flanagan, now under contract with Valentine Music Bar in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Rct. Howard Sullivan of Fort Campbell, Ky.; former Ice Capades comedian who gained world-notice last year when he kissed the forehead of Britain's prime minister; and Jeanne Groos

Teacher Salary Boost Proposed

Schedule Discussed By School Board

The Escanaba board of education last night discussed a proposed new salary schedule for teachers and will study the matter further before taking action. The tentative schedule called for salary increases that would cost an additional $24,500.

Supt. John A. Lemmer presented the salary schedule to the board after conferring with a committee of teachers, he reported. In discussion the board indicated that any upward revision of the salary schedule will be possible only if additional revenues are received.

The board also discussed a proposed salary schedule and retirement plan for janitor-custodians. The board adopted a motion making it compulsory for custodial employees to retire at age 65, excepting custodians who are now more than 60 years old, who may retire at the age of 70. If the 65th birthday of the employee is after Sept. 15 of any year he may complete the year before retirement.

To Continue Contest
George Ruwitch, assistant superintendent, reported to the board on the 20-year history of the school - sponsored student magazine subscription contest held annually. School equipment is purchased with revenues from the campaign, including major items such as $3,500 for the construction of the athletic field house, folding bleachers in the Junior High gym, a sound system in the Senior High school, and establishment of a loan fund.

Following the report the board voted to continue the magazine campaign as in former years because of its value to the students and to the schools.

The board also heard a report from Supt. Lemmer recommending establishment of a third ungraded room in the Franklin school basement, with townships which have students attending the ungraded room participating in the cost.

Renew Treasury Bills
The sale of the balance of the furniture in the late John P. Norton home to the purchaser of the home, H. J. Norton, was approved by the board on recommendation of the Shipstead & Johnson company.

of the administrator of the John P. Norton estate. The sale price of $4,000.

Supt. Lemmer received approval of the board in sending a letter to parents of students who are delinquent in paying text book rentals this year. The amount outstanding in text book rentals is $520.

The board approved the renewal of $563,000 invested in U. S. Treasury Bills, money originally received from the late Mrs. Catherine Bonifas for school building purposes. Interest earned on the investment was $1,755.

In response to questions from board members, Supt. Lemmer reported that the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln was observed in the schools with special programs, but the schools do not dismiss for the day in recognition of the legal holiday.

Senior Class Officers Bill Anderson, president; David Zerbel, vice president; Pat Garbett, secretary; and Bob St. Martin, treasurer, received board approval of regulations governing the Senior Ball to be held April 20.

Conservation Department Proposes New Sport Fishing Regulations

PROPOSED changes in the sport fishing regulations reveal serious concern in official quarters concerning the situation in Michigan's lakes and streams.

The state conservation department has proposed the setting back of the opening of the trout fishing season from the last Saturday in April to the second Saturday in May. It also suggests that creel limits be reduced from 15 to 10.

Dr. Gerald Cooper, biologist of the state institute of fisheries, presented some interesting statistics concerning the trout situation in a talk at the Oscoda meeting of the Michigan Outdoor Writers association.

He pointed out that back in 1875 the creel limit for trout was 50. The limit was cut down to 25 in 1925 and now it is 15.

A survey has revealed that last season the fishermen caught an average of only seven-tenths of a trout per hour as compared to 1.2 per hour for all species of game fish. Three-fourths of the brook trout taken were of the "wild" type and the remaining one-fourth were "planted."

Proposed changes in sport fishing regulations were presented at a recent meeting of the state conservation commission. The suggested revisions are being given extensive publicity, Dr. Cooper explained, in order to obtain the public reaction. Letters from sportsmen and resort interests are solicited so that the conservation department and legislature may be guided in the enactment of new regulations.

Necessities Of Life Exempted From Control

THE politicians in Washington appear to be messing up the problem of price control in the same confusing manner that they have handled the draft situation.

The Office of Price Stabilization has exempted sugar, milk, butter and poultry products from control, and has paved the way for new ceilings on coffee at a higher level than in the past.

Positively this is not good news to the harried consumer. The cost of living has soared in recent months to a point where the average family is finding itself steadily going "deeper in the hole."

It is with essential food items that price control is most necessary. The average American family doesn't care so much whether prices on jewelry, television sets, liquor and other luxuries go up in price, but it certainly wants a lid put on the runaway prices on food and other necessities of life.

The boys in Washington should start putting first things first.

AROUND THE KITCHEN STOVE

Lyrical prose and understandable poetry have been written regarding nickel-trimmed, parlor base burners with insulating doors revealing leaping, colorful flames above knotty chunks of hardwoods. Scarce has been the praise and scant the poems extolling the humble kitchen range. Oldtime wood-burning ranges are on the way to join bootjacks, buffalo robes and horse blankets. We would not be a boulder in the path of progress; gas, oil and electricity are impersonally efficient and considerably easier so far as work is concerned. But there are many older citizens these winter days who recall the old-fashioned kitchen of yesteryear—kitchens that were the heart of home and not a dinky, tiny, chromium-plated, two by four "food laboratory."

Half a century ago the kitchen was a place for preparing food and eating it; families lived in the room after supper was over. On a win't evening there was something friendly, comfortable and reassuring as the family was all together. Boys and girls did their homework lessons. Lads were known on occasion to conceal The Adventures of The Lone Canyon Outlaw behind a dog-eared geography. A big, brass-bowled kerosene lamp on its up-and-down chain hung from the ceiling. Father sat in his battered Morris chair before the open oven, reading farm journals and the paper; mother moved slowly back and forth in her favorite Boston rocker, knitting, darning, sewing and answering questions on how to spell hard words and what was the capital of Idaho. Two dented copper kettles sang and chuckled above the red-orange flames of gas and hickory. There was nothing particularly spectacular or exciting about it—just warmth, security and family unity in those long-ago days before radio, cars, atom bombs and pictures through the air came into our lives. When a human history of America is written, recognition will be given the kitchen stove. In its warmth, men and women made their plans and young folks dreamed of the time when they would be travelling distant roads on life's high adventure.—By Haydn Pearson.

Valentines

Would you like to have a valentine that costs a lot of dough, like a coat of mink or ermine from your one and only beau? Would you like to have a valentine of flashing gems and pearls, so you'd have some costly ornaments to flaunt before the girls? Would you like to have a valentine that takes you far away, like a cruise around the world for which you didn't have to pay?

Would you like to have a valentine that causes folks to stare, like a big expensive car to drive along the thoroughfare? Would you like to have a valentine that towers in the sky, like a mansion filled with servants and the best there is to buy? Would you like to have a valentine of merely lots of cash, and to throw around your money just to make the biggest splash?

Or, would you prefer a valentine which money can't provide, just a simple little token but so very full of pride? Like the light of love a-beaming from a youngster's trusting smile, or a steady arm about you as you travel every mile? Sure, it's treasured things like love and trust that never lose their shine, and if they are yours, you'll always have a priceless valentine.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The man who really dominates cabinet meetings these days is not the president but Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson. Truman is so fond of Wilson personally, so determined to give him complete power, that the big square-jawed ex-head of General Electric carries far more weight than any member of the cabinet.

In fact, some cabinet meetings have featured none - too - friendly arguments in which Wilson always gets what he wants.

For example, Wilson will announce to the cabinet: "We need more timber for defense construction. The lumber people tell me we can get it from the national forests."

The national forests are under Secretary of the Interior Chapman, while the timber in them is under the forest service and Secretary of Agriculture Brannan. And if the latter argue about the need of saving timber for future generations and suggest using only half the proposed amount, Wilson's brusque reply is: "We need all of it."

Usually the president calls in the opposing cabinet member and says: "I think you'd better go along with Charlie. I had an awfully hard time getting him to take the job, and I don't want him to leave because he doesn't get cooperation."

Chief inner-cabinet gripe against Wilson is that he listens chiefly to his advisers from industry and not to his colleagues in government. Generally speaking, Wilson is doing a good job, is especially trying to help place orders with little business—despite the fact that he comes from one of the biggest companies in the world.

Note—Wilson's chief need is a few men around him who can do more long-range planning.

PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE FRIENDSHIP

In the summer of 1947, this writer had an interesting talk with General George Marshall, then secretary of state, about the importance of penetrating the iron curtain in order to refute the Moscow radio and convince the Russian people of the basic friendliness of the American people.

Secretary Marshall seemed convinced at that time that much was to be gained from drawing a distinction between the Russian people and their government, and making it clear that the American people had no quarrel with the Russian people.

In a nation which has no free press, no churches, no parliament to exercise a check rein on the Kremlin, the only way to prevent a precipitous declaration of war is contact with the people of Russia.

This fact is, of course, the chief reason for the iron curtain. The Kremlin's greatest fear is that the Russian people will get too friendly with the outside world.

Secretary Marshall, at that time, favored making a speech in the assembly of the United Nations urging Moscow to remove the iron curtain and permit free intercourse between the people of Russia and the outside world. It was suggested that after such a speech was made, translations in the Russian language could be dropped behind the iron curtain—by weather balloons if necessary.

For some reason this speech was never made.

But now, four years later, 21 senators have signed a resolution urging friendship between the Russian people and the American people. This is the kind of resolution that ought to be smuggled, dropped or somehow or other got behind the iron curtain.

KOREAN CIVILIAN CASUALTIES

The grim casualty figures from Korea show, as usual, that innocent civilians suffered the most.

Since the first shot was fired last June 25, a staggering total of 1,300,000 persons have been killed, wounded or lost. Of these, an estimated 700,000 were civilians—including an estimated 5,000 babies.

Compared with these figures, American losses were less than 48,000 killed, wounded or missing. At the same time, the United Nations forces inflicted a toll of 254,000 combat casualties on the North Koreans and 134,000 on the Chinese Communists. In addition, the United Nations has captured 136,548 North Korean prisoners of war—though only about 1,000 Chinese prisoners.

HANDBOOK OF PRACTICAL ENGLISH

Q. I have almost despaired of teaching my class not to use "like" in such constructions as "Do like I do; I feel like I had been neglected." It seems that the grammatical rules serve only to make the children "more confused," as one child puts it. Will you give us another of your sane explanations, please?

A. Let's forget the ogre that pops out of the grammar book and makes horrid, syntactical faces at our hapless youngsters. Teach them this one simple rule:

If "as," or "as if," or "as though" makes sense, "like" is incorrect.

Examples: "I hope to succeed (like?) you have." "As" in place of "like" makes sense. Therefore: I hope to succeed as you have.

"I feel (like?) I had been neglected." Either "as if" or "as though" makes sense. Therefore: I feel as if (or: as though) I had been neglected.

"I believe (like?) you do." Correct: I believe as you do.

If "as," or "as if," or "as though" does not make sense, "like" is correct.

Examples: "We have flowers (as? as if? as though?) there at home." It doesn't make sense. Therefore: We have flowers like these at home.

"I feel (as? as if? as though?) playing golf. Correct: I feel like playing golf.

"No one can cook (as? as if? as though?) mother." Correct: No one can cook like mother.

"I shall furnish my house (as? as if? as though?) yours. Correct: I shall furnish my house like yours.

"He looks (as? as if? as though?) his father." Correct: He looks like his father.

Woman Founded Valentine Day Greeting Industry In America

By MARY JANE MOORE

For some time now shop windows have been filled with modern symbols of an ancient celebration, one which has changed with the years but has steadily gained rather than lost in popularity.

What if the Cupids displayed for St. Valentine's day do wear a shade more of a sophisticated look than those of yesteryear? What difference that the entwined hearts are a less garish red? Who worries that these valentines are not fashioned by hand but are turned out by the thousands on roaring machines?

Who can say that the swain will put his tongue in his cheek and cross his fingers as he selects the verse that tells of deathless love? Who shall say that the basic spirit of the exchange of greetings is so different than at Christmas, the only occasion on which the volume of such mail is heavier?

St. Valentine's day gets its name from a Roman bishop who suffered martyrdom under Claudius. The mere accident of time seems largely responsible for the association of the name and occasion. The best answer to the riddle of how St. Valentine evolved into the patron saint of lovers brings one to the old Roman feast of Lupercalia.

"Lover's Lottery" One phase of this feast was known as the "Lover's Lottery." Hundreds of Roman maidens participated in this event. Their names were placed into a box from which they were drawn by the young men of the town, and thus does history first record that phenomenon currently known as the "blind date."

Rome apparently being what Pliny, the Elder, said it was at the time, the "Lover's Lottery" did not long survive the wave of reform which it superinduced.

"After a while," writes one commentator, "the undesirable element crept in and the behavior of some of the couples led to so many scandals in the Roman society that the Christian clergy tried to suppress the whole affair. Not being able to do this, they did succeed in putting an end to the lottery, although the feast of dancing, wine drinking, and love making continued. The men of the church persuaded the authorities to substitute the name of a saint instead of a living being, and when the young man drew out the name he was urged to pray to that particular saint during the coming year."

This innovation, as might be expected, did not meet with the enthusiastic support of the younger generation and the "Lover's Lottery" soon became associated only with "the good old days." Nevertheless, St. Valentine, whose martyrdom occurred on February 14, the nearest day to the old Dies Februaria or February 15, was pressed into service as the patron of the dispossessed lovers. However, it is known that feasts closely resembling that of St. Valentine's Day were marked far back in pagan times at this season when Spring and its lightensome fancies are just around the corner.

Elig Valentine Industry The chief feature of all celebrations of the day has been the valentine greeting.

It seems certain that the founder of the American valentine industry was Miss Esther Howland. She was the daughter of a Worcester, Mass., stationer who found an English valentine in her father's store and decided to copy it.

From her pioneer efforts along this line has grown a tremendous industry. The public annually spends more than $50,000,000 for all greeting cards, and valentines are close to the top of the list.

Present-day valentines bear little resemblance to those of the last century. The valentine that dad, granddad, and great-grandfather dispatched to the "dearest little woman in all the world" might tickle the risibilities of Jimmy and Janet, modern style, but, at that, those older missives with their emphatic sentimentality have a certain charm about them that cannot be denied. Some of them were beautiful, lady things, delicate, fragile examples of feminine handicraft.

Almost everyone can remember the comic valentines that used to glare forth from shop windows at this season. There are plenty of comic valentines today, but they have been modernized, too. The old-timers were huge, garishly colored affairs, like posters, and the figures were caricatured with a heavy hand. Beneath them were sharp-tongued rhymes that were more likely to make the recipient wince than laugh.

Often in Literature

Plenty of allusions to Valentine's Day are to be found in the literature of ancient and modern times.

Old Michael Drayton sang: "Mute, bid the morn awake, Sad winter now declines, Each bird doth choose a mate This day—St. Valentine's; Get up, and let us see What beauty it shall be That fortune us assigns."

Even Shakespeare recognized St. Valentine's Day, and into the mouth of Ophelia he put these words: "Good morrow, 'tis St. Valentine, All in the morn betime, And I a maid at your window To be your valentine."

St. Valentine's Day and the custom of exchanging gifts and greetings is mentioned in Pepy's diary and later, in 1756, a young lady wrote to The Connoisseur as follows on a practice that was not uncommon then. She said:

"Last Friday was Valentine's day, and the night before I got five bayleaves, and pinned four of them to the four corners of my pillow, and the fifth to the middle. But to make it more sure I boiled an egg hard, and took out the yolk and filled it with salt; and when I went to bed, ate it, shell and all, without speaking or drinking after it. We also wrote our lovers' names upon bits of paper and rolled them up in clay, and put them in water, and the first that rose up was our valentine. Would you believe it?—Mr. Blossom, was my man. I lay a-bed and shut my eyes all the morning till he came to our house; for I would not have seen another man before him for all the world."

Volume of Verse

In 1882 there was published a volume whose title page announced:

"Choice Verses for Valentines, Autograph Albums, Wedding Celebrations, Containing Also a Very Large Number of Original and Chivalric Selected Verses, Applicable to Wooden, Tin, Crystal, Silver, Golden, and Diamond Wedding Celebrations, and a variety of other poems and verses 'Adapted to Every Occasion of Social Anniversaries and Rejoicings.'"

One turns to the section devoted to valentines, and the feast is quite wonderful. Give ear to this one, designed for a lady named Elizabeth:

"Wild with rapture, I am dizzy When I think upon my Lizzy, Elizabeth, that Queenly name, Oft has graced some courtly dame, But one syllable can bless

In the sound of dearest Bess."

Lovely William must have received this valentine with mingled emotions: "Dearest William, sweetest Billy, Don't stand there and look so silly, Show your heart, as I do mine, When you receive this valentine."

But let's see what a later day had to offer. We now draw upon a volume written by Matthew A. Case, published in 1912, called "Love and Otherwise for St. Valentine's Day." The caption below the title reads: "A Book of Loving Verse and Prose to instruct those who would propose; or those who feel inclined to write a verse of quotation deep or light."

Here's a valentine that tells a lot about what was happening in those dear departed days: "I am a little Suffragette, In hobble skirt so fine; But I'm so sorry now—for I shant Get a single valentine."

Back in 1912 this was considered "hot stuff."

"I want to be somebody's darling, Somebody's turtle dove, Pray don't buy me diamonds, All that I want is love."

The whole collection of valentine gems was topped off by a few wisecracks, 1912 style, such as: "Love is intoxication. Marriage is the delirium tremens."

Under the heading "A Courtship Hint," the damsel of that happy day was told:

"If you must refuse him and he still persists in pressing his suit, hand him a flat-iron."

Those were the days when this form of logic got a great big hand: "Love is a dream—Marriage is the alarm clock—Don't wake me."

What has happened to our valentines since 1912 is known to almost everyone. Some smart aleck may look back about 4 decades from now and chuckle no end at those of this day, but what matter? We do know that the current valentine is a much improved article. It is thoroughly in the modern manner, yet not too incisive. The best spirit of the early "Lover's Lottery" hasn't been entirely forgotten.

In a world filled with so many unpleasant things, it is soothing to know that St. Valentine's day is in no danger of dislodgement now!

Threat To U. S.

Dear Editor:

As state senator when Washington tried to high pressure the California legislature out of passing the alien land law act, I heard the closed doors debate between Secretary of State Wm. J. Bryan and Governor Hiram Johnson. That interference with state right makes me uneasy about coolies from low wage areas.

Some Americans emotionally demand we admit Malaysians. These don't grasp that some of these are still almost in the bow-and-arrow stage. Yet they are willing we amend to death the immigration quota acts.

How many of them know how far above has progressed? How many grasp what that means to our American living standard?

Recollect that Puerto Rico's population, once U. S. A.'s white uniformed Armed Forces' surgeons started to clean up, jumped amazingly, almost tragically.

Yours truly,
Edwin Grant.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

OUT OF THE ICE BOX—Aftermath of the recent cold wave is a story that comes to the attention of Ken Voght, who waved me into Mead's the other day to hear it.

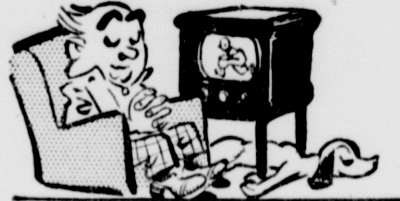

"Did you hear the one about how cold it got up at Rock?" Ken asked. "Well, it seems that somebody telephoned the Weather Bureau to report that on the day it was 22 below in Escanaba it was 53 below zero at Rock. So the man at the Weather Bureau got busy. He phoned a farmer out at Rock who has a thermometer and asked him if it was true that it was 53 below.

"'Why, no,' the farmer replied, 'it's only 20 below here right now.' So the weather man asked him to check that thermometer and the farmer did and said, no, it was still only 20 below. And it's a good thermometer, too, said the farmer. Best one they had in the catalog. 'Say,' asked the weatherman, 'where have you got that thermometer located? Would it be too much trouble to look at it once more for me?'

"'No trouble at all,' replied the farmer, 'I got the thermometer right here on the kitchen wall!'

ON THE AIR—If you want good television reception in Delta county you will have to move to Burnt Bluff. That is a limestone projection some 200 feet above water level in the southeast section of the county.

Proof of the good reception will be found on the Henry Lang farm on the Bluff, where the family enjoys TV programs out of Milwaukee almost without interruption. George Bonfield of Escanaba tells me that he witnessed "fair reception" at the times he visited the Lang home and viewed TV. "But Henry told me that reception is usually good," George added.

According to our calculations Burnt Bluff is approximately 200 miles distant from the TV station at Milwaukee, straight southeast across the water (now ice, of course) of Lake Michigan.

Television waves follow the straight line of vision. The curvature of the earth is approximately nine inches per mile. At 200 miles your line of vision would be interrupted by the earth's curve unless you were 150 feet in the air—and Burnt Bluff's top is about 200 feet above water level.

OUT OF THE FILES—It's a little out of the season, but the Michigan conservation department pulled this story out of the files for state-wide circulation last week.

Calling it an Upper Peninsula yarn, the department says that a ruffed grouse, presumably thinking in terms of a big worm, swallowed a blue racer snake which was 16-inches long and about one-fourth inch in diameter.

The young snake was coiled inside the bird's gullet, according to Howard Eldred, Escanaba, conservation department district game manager, who found the grouse.

GOING NUTTY — Mr. and Mrs. Arm Richter of Washington Island, visiting his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Richter of 200 First avenue south, are not trying to escape the gray squirrels on the island—although more of them are appearing there each year.

Despite their numbers and inquisitive ways, the Richters cater to them as pets around the Island home-land. They amuse the children, said Mrs. Richter.

But she soon decided against supplying the children with nut meats to feed the squirrels. It was too expensive. They have hit on a substitute the squirrels like just as well—stale bread spread with peanut butter.

Incidentally, one of the gray squirrels is white, a fact that arouses added interest in the furry beggars.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—A joint Senate-House resolution requesting support of President Roosevelt on two House bills is to be introduced in the state Senate by Senator Joseph LaFramboise. The first calls for erection of a veterans' hospital at Gladstone and the second provides for examination and a survey of a ship canal to connect Lake Michigan and Lake Superior.

Escanaba—Frank Bender, student of the University of Michigan, is spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bender, 1224 South 11th street.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pinneo have returned to Aylmer, Ontario, following a visit here with Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Shaw and family. Mr. Pinneo is a brother of Mrs. Shaw.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Mrs. Alpha Alek has been elected by the Daughters of Isabella to be their delegate to the national convention in Boston in July. Mrs. Clara Treiber, past regent and deputy state regent, was elected first alternate, and Mrs. Nora Jensen, vice regent, was elected second alternate.

Gladstone—Gertrude Kee won the honor of being selected to represent Gladstone high school in the sub-district oratorical contest to be held at Escanaba March 27.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. A. Sedenburgh and Miss Helen McDonough have returned from Charlevoix, where they were guests of relatives during the past week.

Some folks go to a lot of trouble making pleasure — others have a lot of pleasure making trouble.

Sen. McCarthy Demands State Dep't Clean-Up

Talks In Escanaba This Evening

(By The Associated Press)
Senator Joseph McCarthy, fiery Republican from Wisconsin, renewed his demand for a "house-cleaning" of the state department in Washington in a speech at Jackson last night.

McCarthy, on a tour of Michigan addressing GOP Lincoln birthday rallies, assailed President Truman for failing to purge the government of what McCarthy calls "The Crimson Clique."

No Party Fight
Michigan Republicans heard another GOP leader lambast the Democratic administration in a speech at Saginaw. Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana blamed the Truman administration for "all the country's confusion and foreign entanglements."

Addressing 1,000 party members at a Lincoln rally in Jackson, McCarthy declared "there is no reason why this should be a fight between Democrats and Republicans."

"Those who have been betraying us," he said, "can not honestly claim the label of Democrat or Republican. When they profess to be Democrats they are insulting millions of good loyal Democrats in this nation."

"It is about time," McCarthy declared, "that the Democrats wake up and know they are not properly represented in Washington. Every thinking American knows there will be neither a Democrat nor a Republican party if the sellout continues and the Communists win out."

McCarthy asserted "President Truman has the power to remove the entire crowd from the state department, lock, stock and barrel overnight if he wanted to."

Pressure On Truman
The Senator described Mr. Truman as a "loyal American not connected with the Yalta crowd." He added the President is "a man of inconceivably great stubbornness and little mind, but if the pressure gets great enough he may have a housecleaning."

McCarthy called for weapons for allies of the United States in the fight against Communism.

"Our country," he said, "is short on manpower and long on weapons. In order to meet this problem we must make a direct about face and first kick out the Yalta crowd—replace all those architects of disaster with good loyal Democrats and Republicans."

"Next," McCarthy said, "we should use the manpower of our allies; use the anti-Communist forces in Formosa, the anti-Communist guerrillas in China, and the manpower in Spain and give them American weapons so that they can do their own fighting."

SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT
Senator McCarthy will address a Lincoln day dinner at the House of Ludington at 6:30 tonight and will be the speaker at a public meeting at the W. W. Oliver auditorium at 8:30 tonight. Afterward, he will go to the indoor ice rink to officiate at the crowning of Joan Johnson, queen of the 1951 Ice Varieties.

Senator McCarthy, now about 40, was born and reared on a farm in the Town of Center near Appleton, Wis. He was graduated from the Shawano high school and the Marquette university law school. He practiced law for two years with Atty. Michael Eberlein in Shawano until his election as circuit judge of the Outagamie, Shawano and Waupaca district.

With the outbreak of World War II, he enlisted as a private in the Marine Corps and served as a tail gunner on a bomber in the South Pacific theatre of war. He was discharged at the end of the war with the rank of captain, and became a successful candidate for the United States Senate.

Senator McCarthy has been an ardent foe of Communist activity in this country. He is single.

JCC Region Unit Will Meet Here

State President To Attend Sessions

The newly-organized Upper Peninsula Junior Chamber of Commerce regional committee will hold its first quarterly meeting in Escanaba, March 4-5.

T. L. Talvite Seriously Hurt

Garageman Crushed In Hoisting Machine

Seriously injured when his clothing caught in a hoisting winch, Theodore L. Talvite, 39, Rapid River garageman, today is receiving hospital treatment in Escanaba for a fractured hip, several fractured ribs, crushed chest and severe cuts and bruises on his body.

The accident in which Talvite was injured occurred about 5:45 p. m. yesterday in Gladstone while he was hoisting a car to tow it to Rapid River.

Talvite's heavy jacket caught on a steel pin of the hoisting winch on the wrecker and he was pulled into the winch underneath the cable attached to the automobile being raised from the ground. Willard Anderson, Rapid River youth accompanying Talvite on the call to Gladstone, stepped the winch. Talvite was taken to a Gladstone physician and then to St. Francis hospital in Escanaba by ambulance.

The accident occurred at the Rex Stove home, 1307 Dakota, owner of the car that was to be removed by Talvite's wrecker.

Michigan Civil Service Setup Called Failure

Not A Merit System, Task Force Says

LANSING—(AP)—A "little Hoover commission task force" today came home with a report calling Michigan's state civil service system a failure.

Loren B. Miller, research director of the commission, commented: "The conclusion to be drawn from the report is that while Michigan may have a 'civil service' system, it is obviously far from having a 'merit' system in any real sense of the term."

Record Dismal

"The one specific achievement perhaps is job security for employees against 'spoils system' insecurity and turnover. But judging from effective results, it can be doubted whether even this was much of an improvement x x x. The record is dismal in almost all respects. And when the tendency toward loss of initiative and responsiveness, x x x is weighed against the benefits job security confers upon employees, it can well be questioned whether there has been any net gain."

Miller declared "it can only be said that the people of the state have received scant return for their money—or on the promises held out to them. These have been from a commission deliberately designed to be as independent and free of control by either the governor or legislature as was possible."

Long List of Criticism

The report was drafted by Dr. Louis L. Friedman of Wayne university, former personnel officer for the U. S. security board, chief of placement for the Ohio civil service commission and for the Cincinnati civil service commission. He made these criticisms: 1—In 1935, before civil service, a study commission objected that the turnover in state employment was 25 per cent and cost $937,500 a year. Nine years after civil service the turnover is 25.5 per cent and cost $3,500,000 on the same basis. 2—Detroit civil service turnover is 10 per cent.

2—93 per cent of persons hired by the state are provisional employees—that is, hired without civil service examinations. Seventy per cent of all appointments are never certified by civil service. "There is definite indication" that state departments, not the civil service commission, are selecting personnel for the state service.

3—New employees work an average of 18.5 months without being certified. Twenty-five per cent are not examined after two years on the job. Some employees have worked eight or nine years for the state without being qualified.

4—Only three out of 10 provisional employees are removed by civil service, six out of ten are certified to keep their jobs, and one out of 10 gets a promotion before being examined for his first job.

Too Hard To Fire

5—State pay is too low in downstate cities and too high upstate.

6—Advancement within civil service has too often been a matter of "going through chairs" rather than advancement through merit.

7—The state's sick leave policy is being "abused" and cost $1,300,000 in 1949.

8—It is too hard to fire unsatisfactory employees; appeal procedures are too complex.

9—Civil service maintains a "curtain" between itself and the rest of state government.

10—Civil service is overstaffed at the bottom levels and understaffed in professional personnel.

Friendland recommended putting civil service under a single administrator, more responsible to the governor.

Miller argued the constitution should be amended to allow the legislature to fix pay scales and that state agencies be given the right to decide the number and types of jobs they need.

Those who oppose changing the civil service law will only block any effective reorganization of state government, he said.

ting the fire, was still in jail. He failed to supply $20,000 bond set by Municipal Judge Earl E. MacDonald.

Arraigned on two charges of arson yesterday, he stood mute. The court demanded examination for him which was set for Feb. 23.

Book Loss Heavy

The vanguard of the various inspection parties went through the still-smoking building yesterday with Governor Williams, in a fireman's hat, and House Speaker Victor A. Knox (R-Sault Ste. Marie), the top state officials represented.

Salvage workers, who have been mostly concentrating on the first four floors, moved into the fifth and sixth floors today to carry out files and usable office equipment.

Work also was started on the gigantic project of removing the 400,000 volumes in the state library to a spot where the books can be shielded from further water damage and the exact loss can be determined.

G. Lorenz, assistant state librarian, estimated that about 10 per cent of the library collection was destroyed beyond salvage, including historical documents and newspaper files that can never be replaced.

Agencies In Confusion

Operating with borrowed office machinery, the state payroll division set up headquarters in an abandoned bus station and hoped to start the checks for state employees rolling out again by Thursday.

The state public service commission moved into the Prudden auditorium, a building mainly used for fights and other sporting events. Commission members said most of their important files apparently could be salvaged.

The fire interrupted the annual chore of issuing $800,000 worth of motor vehicle carrier permits and workers were trying to find out how they stood in the project.

The agriculture department, hardest hit of all the state agencies, had a home in a set of Michigan State college quonset huts but was without records, files or other than borrowed and makeshift equipment.

Representatives of various other smaller departments were still scurrying around trying to find out where they stood at the end of the first working day.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. said it would cost $125,000 to replace the damaged telephone equipment. Crews from Grand Rapids and Jackson have been called in to aid the repair workers. Six emergency switchboards and 40 independent lines have been set up to service the various departments.

A Swedish experimental attempt to improve tree seed production by drawing steel bands tightly around trunks to prevent downflow of sap is being tried in the U. S.

The women attended services as a group and then held a social hour.

Armintrout Home Damaged By Fire

Fire starting from an overheated gas brooder caused considerable damage in the basement of the E. H. Armintrout home, at the foot of Memory Lane, yesterday afternoon.

City firemen were called at 3:25 p. m., and worked until 6 p. m., to put the fire under control. Over 1,000 gallons of water were used by the six men responding to the call.

Mrs. Armintrout and son, Myron, U. S. Marines, returned yesterday from Lincoln, Neb., where they had attended funeral services for Mr. Armintrout, who was killed in an auto accident at Gladstone Feb. 3.

The brooder was being used to heat the basement, after the house was re-opened. Joists in the floor, egg cartons and wood crates and other material in the basement were damaged. Only a chest of drawers on the first floor was damaged, firemen report.

The fire spread along the basement ceiling and burned between walls. Four gas masks were used by firemen while working in the basement. Joseph Vogel was in charge.

Pay Fines—Those fined in justice court the past few days for traffic violations are as follows: Carl J. Duchaine, 1305 Eighth avenue south, $1 for making U-turn; Duwayne Kasehler of Wilson, $2 for running a red light; and Shirley Jacobsen of Stonington, $1 for illegal use of dealer plates.

Engineer Coming—Paul Johnson of Chicago, engineer for Consoer, Townsend and associates, is scheduled to come here tomorrow to confer with city officials on plans for the Escanaba water filter plant. Johnson, who represents the firm which prepared plans and specifications, will assist the city council in analyzing bids when they are opened at the regular meeting tomorrow night.

Construction Starts On U. S. Headquarters Building In Germany

FRANKFURT—(AP)—Construction of the new multi-million dollar American occupation headquarters in Germany will start Thursday.

U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy announced that the ground-breaking ceremony will be held on the 80-acre site of a new $7,500,000 housing project for American employees of the high commission near Bonn.

McCloy and Mayor Heinrich Hopmann of Bad Godesberg will turn the first shovel of earth to officially start work on the project overlooking the Rhine River.

The new project will be one unit of a complete American community to be built between Bonn and Bad Godesberg. The U. S. high commission will transfer from Frankfurt to the new headquarters this fall.

He held officers at bay and Dawson said he fired at passing automobiles. The four men hit were walking along the sidewalk and were shot down as they passed the store.

Gunfire from the store finally ceased and officers, with gas masks, went inside. They found the killer with a bullet wound in his head.

Representatives of various other smaller departments were still scurrying around trying to find out where they stood at the end of the first working day.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. said it would cost $125,000 to replace the damaged telephone equipment. Crews from Grand Rapids and Jackson have been called in to aid the repair workers. Six emergency switchboards and 40 independent lines have been set up to service the various departments.

The new project will be one unit of a complete American community to be built between Bonn and Bad Godesberg. The U. S. high commission will transfer from Frankfurt to the new headquarters this fall.

He held officers at bay and Dawson said he fired at passing automobiles. The four men hit were walking along the sidewalk and were shot down as they passed the store.

Gunfire from the store finally ceased and officers, with gas masks, went inside. They found the killer with a bullet wound in his head.

Representatives of various other smaller departments were still scurrying around trying to find out where they stood at the end of the first working day.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. said it would cost $125,000 to replace the damaged telephone equipment. Crews from Grand Rapids and Jackson have been called in to aid the repair workers. Six emergency switchboards and 40 independent lines have been set up to service the various departments.

Industry Favors 8 Percent Limit On Pay Increases

Two Votes Needed

Public members—they'll go for an eight per cent wage hike, but think it should exclude pensions and other so-called "fringe benefits" before and after the freeze deadline of Jan. 25. Ching is working hard to bring his three votes into line either with the labor or industry units, so that a formula may be written to release the vast backlog of contracts now expiring or being negotiated. The public members hold the balance of power, but have to garner at least two more votes from the industry or labor members to get a majority of the nine-man panel.

Industry members—they concede that some contracts—like those of John L. Lewis' miners and Philip Murray's steelworkers—have provided pay increases of 10 per cent for workers, but say that in the last three months of 1950 there was a general pattern of pay hikes of six to seven per cent. On top of that, they say pension and other fringe issues could account for additional pay advantages to workers, so that after Jan. 25, they'd approve only all-embracing wage and benefit boosts totaling eight per cent. The industry representatives are Ward Keener, Henry Arthur, and Reuben Robertson, Jr.

gotiate what the western nations could accept as a reasonable settlement. At a minimum this would require the freeing of all South Korea from Communist forces—Chinese or Korean. If the Chinese are not interested in negotiating a settlement, the war may go on indefinitely with the American purpose being to destroy as much of the enemy as at low a cost in U. N. lives as possible.

Officials concede the Chinese may be so much under the domination of Moscow that the Russians will be able to compel them to go on fighting. If that happens the present U. S. idea of limiting the war in the hope of peace undoubtedly will be subjected to a new look.

Need Experienced Men For Railway Mediation

By PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Why don't the National Mediation Board machinery work to prevent the rail strikes?

With the country just now getting out from under its second narrow escape of a complete rail transportation tie-up, that is the number one question. For regardless of who is to blame, the basic and underlying cause of this whole mess was that a grievance was allowed to go for two years unsettled. Why?

It would probably take a hot-shot congressional investigating committee a winter's work to get at all the answers. But a few facts seem to stand out. Without going too far back into railroad history, the starting point is the Railway Labor Act of 1934.

This act was written by a conference of railway executives and railway labor leaders to bring industrial peace and stability to the industry. It is still regarded as a good law. It may not be perfect. It may require some further amendment. But in general it set up mediation machinery and procedures which profited from mistakes that had been made in past railway labor disputes.

The main trouble now is that administration of the Railway Labor Act seems gradually to have been allowed to fall down. Good administrators can make a poor law work, sometimes. But administrators who aren't the best can't make even a good law work.

Quality Sink
In the early days of the Railway Labor Act, the government had good administrators. From 1934 to about 1941, the three members of the National Mediation Board were able to handle most of the railway labor grievances themselves. In this period it was necessary to call on the services of only about one presidentially appointed emergency board a year.

Gradually, however, political lame ducks began to be appointed to the NMB as vacancies arose. Some of the appointees didn't know anything about railroading. The result was that they couldn't settle railway labor grievances themselves. Presidential emergency boards had to be appointed in increasing numbers. In one year there were over 20.

This started a trend. Instead of the Mediation Board doing its job itself, only preliminary hearings were held. Then everybody rushed to the White House to get a presidential board to handle cases. This trend was worsened when, early in the last war, President Roosevelt took a case out of the hands of an emergency board, and imposed a settlement above the board's recommendations.

This quick background brings the case down to the recent emergency. It really goes back over two years. Late in 1948 the railway non-operating brotherhoods made a demand for a 40-hour week. This case went through NMB to a presidential emergency board.

On this board were William M. Leiserson, David Cole and George Cook. Dr. Leiserson and Cook were former members of NMB. In brief they recommended 48 hours pay for a 40-hour week, but they cut out the double-time demands for Saturday and Sunday. The railroad was given eight months in which to apply for an increased freight rate to meet the cost. In the interim, non-operating labor was given a seven cents an hour wage increase.

Brotherhoods Want In
After making its recommendations, this panel was hired by the railroads and the brotherhoods to help them work out the full agreement. Finally the whole thing was settled. Both sides said the mediators sustained their positions, which was something of a record.

In the meantime, the operating brotherhoods—engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen, switchmen and yardmen—had come in with their 40-hour-week demands. This case went through the Mediation Board with the usual express train speed and ended in the lap of another presidential emergency board.

Recommendations of this presidential emergency board, filed last June 15, failed to take into consideration the gains already granted to the non-operating brotherhoods. It recognized the 40-hour-week principle, but denied yardmen, trainmen and conductors pay demands on a new work-week basis.

When the brotherhood refused to accept these recommendations

Pakistan Imports A On Increase

KARACHI, Pakistan—(AP)—Pakistan during three months ending October recorded the highest import figures from countries other than India. Operation of the open general license made imports soar to $23,460,000.

the case went back to the White House, where Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman's two efforts at settlement ended in a failure, even after government seizure of the roads. The case is back in the NMB lap again, but who's really going to settle it remains to be seen.

Federal Census To Prove Worth

Babson Discusses Population Change

By ROGER W. BABSON
WASHINGTON, D. C.—During the past year, Uncle Sam spent huge sums of money for many things of doubtful value. Yet, there was one particular government project, undertaken in 1950, which will prove its worth—namely, the Federal census.

Complete breakdowns of last year's decennial census are not yet available. However, figures for the States and for most of the country's larger cities have already been released. They are very significant. Those who own their own business, interests in other businesses, or make their living by selling can save time and money by studying these census figures. They give you, free of cost, elaborate surveys on quotas, routes, territories and other sales problems.

When all 1950 census figures are released, they will tell much on local merchandising conditions and opportunities throughout the nation. However, compiling census figures is a big job and it will probably be many months before all details are published. Meanwhile, readers should watch for the preliminary summaries as they are released each month.

Population Increases
On April 1, 1950, our population was 152,000,000. Since then there have been 3,704,000 births and 1,461,000 deaths and a net emigration of 10,000. This gives us about double the annual gain of ten years ago. Those States possessing the advantage of a mild climate show the greatest population increases. California is up 51.6 per cent from the 1940 level and is followed closely by Texas, Arizona and Florida. This increase of population is not coming from "playboys", but from good substantial Northern people who are retiring from work on pensions. They make excellent citizens for any community.

Undoubtedly, the national trend is toward greater increases in leisure time. Firms engaged in the production of recreation equipment will more than hold their own in the years to come. Not only in the above states but elsewhere throughout the nation.

States That Have Stopped Growing

Nearly half of the States—twenty-two to be exact—show population increases below the national average in the ten-year period from 1940 to 1950. Five states register actual population losses for the period. Many of these twenty-seven states were sparsely populated anyway and their poor showing in this census is due in part to the fact that proportionately the number of men they sent into the armed forces during the Second World War was high.

The gains in population shown by the Far Western States reflect clearly the wartime migration to the West Coast to fill jobs in the huge defense establishments out there. California has the double advantage of mild climate and plenty of jobs for everyone.

The Rural States
Many cannot understand why I continue to call attention to the "Magic Circle", comprising the states of Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, as being "the richest in

Iron Mountain News Winner In Makeup Contest

CHICAGO—(AP)—Winners in the 12th annual typography contest for member newspapers of the Inland Daily Press association were announced recently.

The contest is sponsored by the Northwestern University chapter of Sigma Delta, Chicago, national journalistic fraternity.

Awards went to the five best entries in each circulation class. A total of 173 newspapers were entered in five classes.

The judges were Taylor Poore, art director of Tempo, Inc.; Edward L. Tollefson, production manager of Foote, Cone and Belding; and Dean Kenneth E. Olson of Northwestern's Medill School of Journalism.

These were the winners:

Class A (up to 5,000 circula-

$35,000,000,000 a year just to support 3,500,000 men on active duty.

Committee aides explained that this money would go to feed 'em, clothe 'em, train 'em, house 'em and put money into their pay envelopes; maintain their equipment—gas for planes, tanks and jeeps, and grease for rifles. It also would cover dependents' allotments for enlisted men assigned away from home.

But it doesn't cover the original cost of equipment, nor of barracks and bases, airfields, ships and radar warning systems.

On the other hand, Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.), of the armed services committee pointed out, the reservist supports himself.

Support Of Man In Uniform Cost $10,000 A Year

WASHINGTON—(AP)—When it comes to the cost of upkeep, the man in uniform is rapidly catching up with the blonde in mink and pearls.

The next time you see a GI walking along the street, you can say to yourself: "There goes a man it takes $10,000 a year to support."

On the average, that is.

And the same goes for the lads in blue, green and gray—officers and enlisted men alike.

The figure is based on information the department of defense sent to the armed services committee.

The committee is expected to act this week on a defense department proposal to set up a system of universal military service and training. Under this program men drafted to service would continue in a reserve force after active duty ended.

The defense department contends this would be less costly than maintaining a large standing army. It told the committee that it will cost approximately

Not Everybody Can Use Form 1040-A For Income Report

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Although form 1040-A is the simplest to use in making your 1950 income tax return, not everyone can use it.

You can if—
Your income was under $5,000 and full tax was withheld from all of it except for no more than $100 in untaxed wages, interest or dividends.

(You can see from this that form 1040-A was meant mostly for people who had full tax withheld from them in 1950 although some leeway was made for those with a little extra untaxed income—of a certain kind.)

If you had income of more than $100 in untaxed wages or interest or dividends or any untaxed income at all from any other sources, like rents or fees or farming you can't use form 1040-A.

Deduction Included
If your income was under $5,000 and for some reason you don't fit the rule for using form 1040-A, you can use the 1040 short form.

Just remember though: the under-$5,000 people, using form 1040-A or the 1040 short form, are allowed a standard deduction of about 10 per cent of their income for personal expenses like charitable contributions, medical expenses, and so on.

They don't have to claim the deduction or prove it amounted to 10 per cent. They get it automatically. It's already allowed for in the tax table used to figure the tax on people using those two forms.

If their deductions actually were more than 10 per cent, they'll lose money filing on form 1040-A or the 1040 short form. In such a case they should use the 1040 long form.

There they'll have to itemize every deduction, to prove they had it, but they can claim the full amount of their deductions, thus cutting down the amount of their income that can be taxed.

All that follows applies only to those under-$5,000 people who can use form 1040-A.

No Filing Required
Just answer the questions on the form and send it to the internal revenue collector for your district.

You don't have to figure your tax. You supply the necessary information and he'll figure your tax for you. Don't send any cash or check.

If he finds you owe any tax—in addition to whatever tax was withheld from your pay—he'll send you a bill. Then you have 30 days to pay up after he notifies you.

If he finds you have a refund due because you were taxed too much in 1950, he'll send you a refund.

Since in order to use form 1040-A you must have had all, or almost all, the tax withheld from you in 1950, you should have receipts from your boss showing what he withheld and turned over to the government.

Everyone who had taxes withheld in 1950 should have such a receipt. It's called form W-2, a withholding statement. Some people will have more than one receipt if they worked for more than one boss in 1950.

When you fill out and send in your form 1040-A, you must attach a copy of each form W-2 given you, by a boss.

Be sure to watch the questions on form 1040-A about being blind or over 65.

Wife Signs Too
Everyone filing a return gets a $600 exemption, but if he was blind in 1950 he gets an extra $600 exemption and if he was 65 in 1950 he gets still another $600 exemption.

So a man who was 65 in 1950 gets a $1,200 exemption when he files a return. If he was 65 and blind, he gets $1,800.

And each person filing a return gets a $600 exemption for his wife—if she files jointly with him or had no income of her own—plus $600 if she was blind, and another $600 if she was 65 in 1950.

(Remember: You get only one $600 exemption for a dependent and no extra exemption because a dependent was 65 or blind.)

There's no necessity here for a step-by-step explanation of filling out form 1040-A. It's so simple all you do is follow the directions.

But be sure of one thing: If you file a joint return with your wife on form 1040-A, be sure both of you sign it.

See previous stories in this series for detailed explanations on husband-wife problems, deductions, exemptions, and so on.

Bermuda Population Reported Growing

HAMILTON, Bermuda—(AP)—Unofficial figures on Bermuda's census completed last week show an increase of 21 per cent in the civilian population over 1939, when the last census was taken. The 1950 census shows a total civilian population of 37,254, an increase of 6,440 over the 1939 count.

The returns indicate a marked trend toward population increases in outlying parishes and a decrease in the city of Hamilton. This is presumably due to the advent in 1946 of motor vehicles in Bermuda for civilian use, making Hamilton accessible from any point on the islands.

Howell Girl
Is Michigan's
Cherry Pie Queen

By STAN BRADSHAW
GRAND RAPIDS—(P)—You'd probably look twice at Barbara Nash anyhow—but she also claims another distinction.

The petite, well-poised 18-year-old brunette from Howell is the best cherry pie maker in Michigan.

Her pie, with a filling smooth and rich as good velvet, won out over the entries of 43 other county pie baking queens here yesterday.

But the contest was so close that only 2.75 points separated the top eight winners.

The brown-eyed Howell high senior, who would like a career as a commercial artist, was rather worried about the outcome.

"I had tasted the filling first," she explained "and knew it was all right, but I was very doubtful about the crust."

Plenty of Practice
Barbara, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Nash, who live on a farm near Pinckney, said she had baked "about 25 pies" in preparation for this contest.

It was the third time she had entered the annual event, sponsored by the Michigan cherry industry. Last year, she was the Livingston county winner.

She also is the second Livingston county girl to win the contest, since it was made state-wide six years ago.

In 1949, her good friend, Ruth Ann Lyons of Hartland was the winner. Ruth Ann passed on her recipe to Barbara and coached her in the baking.

Since she first started, Barbara said, she has baked "several hundred" pies, trying out different recipes suggested to her "by good cooks."

"The recipe she finally won with, she noted, has changed 'quite a lot' since she first started.

"Loves to Cook"
Barbara said she "loves to cook," and worked last summer as third cook in a summer camp. She likes to make desserts best.

The prize-winning recipe, she noted, was polished up over the Christmas vacations when her "steady," air force corp. Louis Bekker, was home on furlough from Washington State.

"He helped me practice," she said.

As the Michigan queen, she will go to Chicago Feb. 21 for the national contest. The winner there will go to Washington to present President Truman with one of her "super dooper" pies.

Placing just back of Barbara, who had 86.75 points of a total of 100, were Marilyn Norman, Barry county, with 86.50 and Nancy K. Ericson, Benzie county, with 86.25.

Other winners were Laura Lamb, Van Buren; Bonnie Smith, Oscoda; Elizabeth Skaggs, Cheboygan; Shirley Brog, Allegan; and DeJores Schafer, Manistee.

The Recipe:
Queen Barbara gives her recipe as follows:

Filling—Three cups cherries, one cup juice, one cup sugar, four tablespoons corn starch, one half teaspoon salt, four drops almond oil, and six drops lemon juice.

Crust—Three cups sifted flour, one cup of shortening, one teaspoon of salt and "about" one half cup of water.

How to put them all together? Well, that's a queen's secret, isn't it?

Today's Recipes

Mrs. Harold Bergquist of Bark River sends two of her favorite doughnut recipes, requested a short time ago.

Doughnuts

Four egg yolks or two whole eggs
One cup sugar
One cup, less two tablespoons milk

One-half teaspoon vanilla
Two tablespoons shortening
Three and three-fourths cups sifted all-purpose flour

Three and one-half teaspoons baking powder
One and three-fourths teaspoons nutmeg

Three-fourths teaspoon cinnamon
One and one-fourth teaspoon salt

Put eggs in mixing bowl and beat very lightly. Add milk and vanilla and mix thoroughly. Drop in shortening. Sift flour, baking powder, spices and salt together. Add one-half to first mixture and beat until smooth. Add remaining flour and mix well. Turn out on floured board and with a little handling as possible roll dough three-eighths of an inch thick. Cut with two and one-half inch doughnut cutter. Fry in hot shortening, 375 F, turning when first crack appears. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes two dozen.

Sour milk version: Use one cup sour milk or buttermilk instead of sweet milk. Omit baking powder and add three-fourths teaspoon soda and one-half teaspoon cream of tartar.

Raised Doughnuts

Combine:
One cup scalded sour milk or buttermilk
Three tablespoons shortening
One tablespoon sugar
Two teaspoons salt

Cool to lukewarm and add one package yeast and mix well.

Blend in one egg, add gradually three cups sifted flour. Mix until dough is well blended and soft. Roll out on well-floured board to one-fourth inch thickness. Cut with two and one-half inch doughnut cutter and place on floured place until double in bulk, about one and a half hours. Fry in hot fat, 375 F for about three minutes on each side. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes 18 doughnuts.

Carol J. Urbom
Bride, Wedding
In San Pedro

Now at home at 231 Ninth street in San Pedro, Calif., following a honeymoon at Lake Arrowhead, are the former Carol Jean Urbom, daughter of Mrs. Marie Urbom, and her husband, John Stenbakken, who spoke their marriage vows in a ceremony at the First Methodist church in San Pedro before Rev. Fred Ross.

The Urboms are former residents of Escanaba.

The bride wore a gown of shimmering white satin of classic lines. The neckline was low, V-shaped with a satin berthia edging. Her veil of sheer tulle was held in place by beaded orange blossoms and she wore a strand of pearls as her only jewelry. She carried a bridal bouquet of snow-white roses.

Mrs. Helen Kozar, matron of honor, wore pink and carried pink roses. Miss Madeline Roemer was bridesmaid and Lynn Kozar, flower girl, wore in pale yellow net and taffeta and they carried matching bouquets.

Paul Urbom, brother of the bride, served as best man and ushering the guests to their places was Ronnie Fuchsi.

Mrs. Urbom selected a navy blue ensemble with maroon accessories for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a dark green frock with white touches.

A reception followed the ceremony, a four-tiered wedding cake of white and silver centering the appointments.

The bride is a graduate of San Pedro high school and is with a Los Angeles insurance firm. Her husband, a son of the Lars Stenbakken, also is a San Pedro graduate, and is leaving his Los Angeles position to enter army service.

Valentines Of Yore Copied From
Cupid's Helper

By ED CREAGH
WASHINGTON—(P)—Let's face it: men aren't what they used to be.

But women haven't changed a bit. On this St. Valentine's day, try to imagine a 1951 male with the poetic spirit to tell his gal:

"I bear in sign of love
"A sparrow in my glove,
"And in my breast a dove—
"This shall be thine."

Well, they did it in granddaddy's time.

The library of Congress proved it today, unearthing—by request—some choice specimens of yesterday's valentines.

Compare them with today's slick, gag-in-every-line jobs and you get a sad, sad comparison—from the viewpoint of any young woman who hoped for three cents' worth of old-fashioned sentiment in this morning's mail.

Today a girl is lucky if she gets a dime-store card with some such heart-stirring message as:

"You eyes are crossed, your knees are knocked,
"I kind of like you when I'm crooked."

Ah, but in granddaddy's time... men wrote their own then, or at least copied them from the cupid's little-helper books that had a terrific sale. Here's a ripe sample from the library of congress' practically lavender-scented files:

"Your lips are bright twin corals,
"Your teeth the fairest pearls,
"Your eyes are sister sapphires,
"And golden rings your curls."

And the women? What were they doing while their men-folk spun such gossamer rhymes?

Oh, they were up to the age-old sport of sticking hatpins into the male ego.

Here's one girl's tender reply (A. D. 1867) to a poor guy who proposed to her by valentine:

"You're very kind and thoughtful, And, believe me, so am I—

"For if I ever marry you
"I surely hope you'd die."

Even when the lady was willing she usually managed to cross up the guy somehow.

There's one tantalizing fragment supposedly written by a very early 20th century girl on Valentine's day:

"Ma, she says it's awful.
"Pa, he thinks it's sin.
"But gee! when I think of your sweet lips—"

The last line is missing.

Rifle Club To Use NRA Rules

Many Plans Made As Club Reorganizes

Membership in the Gladstone Rifle and Pistol club will be governed by National Rifle Association regulations it was decided at a reorganization meeting of the local club Tuesday evening at the city hall.

Trooper Joseph Svoke, president of the club, presided.

In following NRA regulations, members must be 18 years of age or over, of good character, citizens of the United States and must pledge allegiance to the flag.

There will be two types of membership in the local club — regular membership at $2.00 and NRA membership at $5.00 which includes membership in the national association in addition to privileges of the local club.

It was decided to post the club range as private club property and any person caught maliciously destroying property at the range will be prosecuted.

Plans were discussed for further development of the range and a pistol range along side of the rifle range to be used exclusively for pistol shooting is among future projects.

Organization of a junior rifle club to encourage youths under 13 to learn proper handling and firing of arms is proposed. NRA offers three badges which youths can earn in this field. They are Marksman, Sharpshooter and expert.

A member drive is to be started in the near future.

Meetings of the club will be held every second Tuesday of the month at 7:30 o'clock in the evening at the city hall.

Dog Hero Rescues Cat Bedmate In Fire

GLEN ALLEN, Alaska—(AP)—A brown mongrel dog named "Don" is living in new quarters and Alaska road commission employees are keeping his plate heaped with his favorite food.

That is his reward for dashing into a burning building and rescuing his friend and bed mate "Kathy," a cat.

But the cat would not even take time to say "thanks, Don." The dog performed the heroic act when a fire destroyed an ADC garage that housed the bed dog and cat shared. The fire occurred several days ago.

Some 20 volunteer firemen witnessed the dog's heroic feat. Frank Hobs, road commission mechanic, said:

"We noticed the dog acting strangely near the garage door. Suddenly he dashed into the flaming building and vanished."

"A few seconds later he came back with the cat in his mouth."

The dog carried the cat well clear of the burning building before letting her go. The terrified feline dashed into nearby brush and did not appear back at the camp for two days.

The cat since her return has refused to go near the dog or the embers of the building that was her home.

Oscar Contest Race For Three Top Actresses

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—A three-way battle among Bette Davis, Judy Holliday and Gloria Swanson was predicted as Hollywood studied the nominations for 1950 academy awards.

Jose Ferrer led the male star contenders, on the basis of his full blown portrait of "Cyrano De Bergerac."

"All About Eve" took top honors in the picture division, nabbing 14 nominations. This was one of the biggest totals since "Going My Way" and "Gone With the Wind."

"Sunset Boulevard" which collected 11 nominations, made it shape up like a two-picture race.

Harvey Mentioned
The major nominations are: Actor: Louis Calhern, "The Magnificent Yankee;" Jose Ferrer, "Cyrano De Bergerac;" William term honor roll at Northern Michigan college at Marquette. Larson, a graduate of Rock high school, served in the United States Air Force in Germany.

Holden, "Sunset Boulevard;" James Stewart, "Harvey;" Spencer Tracy, "Father of the Bride." Actress: Anne Baxter, "All About Eve;" Bette Davis, "All About Eve;" Judy Holliday, "Born Yesterday;" Eleanor Parker, "Caged;" Gloria Swanson, "Sunset Boulevard."

Supporting actor: Jeff Chandler, "Broken Arrow;" Edmund Gwenn, "Mr. 880;" Sam Jaffe, "The Asphalt Jungle;" George Sanders, "All About Eve;" Erich von Stroheim, "Sunset Boulevard."

Three Fat Roles
Supporting actress: Hope Emerson, "Caged;" Celeste Holm, "All About Eve;" Josephine Hull, "Harvey;" Nancy Olson, "Sunset Boulevard;" Thelma Ritter, "All About Eve."

Picture: "All About Eve;" "Born Yesterday;" "Father of the Bride;" "King Solomon's Mines;" "Sunset Boulevard."

Director: Joseph Mankiewicz, "All About Eve;" John Huston, "The Asphalt Jungle;" George Cukor, "Born Yesterday;" Billy Wilder, "Sunset Boulevard;" Carol Reed, "The Third Man."

The star actress contest appeared to be one of the hottest in years.

All three of the leaders had monumental roles—Miss Davis as an aging film star, Miss Holliday as a junk dealer's girl friend, and Miss Swanson as a faded film actress.

Party March 22
Two of the nominations were especially dramatic. Miss Swanson scored her hit after a long absence from Hollywood, where she was one of the leading glamor girls of the silent era.

Miss Davis' performance provided a triumphant comeback for a brilliant career that had been sagging.

There was less competition among the men. Ferrer's Cyrano has captured more critical acclaim than the other contenders. Holden as a disillusioned screen writer, and Calhern, as Oliver Wendell Holmes jr., appear to be the runners-up. Stewart and Tracy put in popular performances but their work was in comedies, which are seldom rewarded by the academy.

About 12,000 members of the motion picture industry made the nominations. The Oscar winners will be announced at Hollywood's big annual party, to be held March 22 at the Pantages theater.

LIGHT CONTROL. William Rundstrom brushes a thick solution of ground glass mixed with red oxide of iron onto colored glass for purpose of light control.

The medieval making of stained glass windows still goes on today and has found a definite place in modern architecture. The work requires great skill. After a design has been approved, craftsmen make cardboard replicas of the window openings. From them they make a full size cartoon, which is the suggested theme in detail. From the cartoon, pattern drawings are made, then cut up and stuck to a large sheet of heavy plate glass on an easel. Colors of glass are selected, cut to the pattern and stuck to the easel. The painted pieces are then fired in a kiln. Glaziers place the baked pieces into leaded positions in the window, cement the entire window on both sides to insure its being firm and watertight. The making of stained glass windows is shown here at the 50-year-old Judson Studios in Los Angeles.

City Engages Francis Firm

Plans For Water Job To Be Drawn

At a lengthy session Monday night the city council voted to engage the services of the Francis Engineering company, of Saginaw, to draft preliminary plans and cost estimates for the Manistique water supply reconstruction project.

A proposed contract for the work, submitted by George W. Francis who attended the meeting was carefully studied by council members. The motion of acceptance authorized the mayor and city clerk to sign the contract after its final approval by the city attorney.

The Francis firm is expected to have the preliminary figures available in about 40 days.

They will include all phases of the proposed construction program, including both a gravity and force main, a filtering plant both at the pumping station and at the intake on Indian river, and plans for the rehabilitation of certain parts of the municipal distribution system including installation of two main water lines under the dammill flume to serve the east side.

When the engineers submit their preliminary work they will also recommend the type of water supply reconstruction best suited to the city.

After the city council approves the projects needed, plans will be taken to issue self-liquidating bonds against the water department. This will be followed by the advertisement for bids and the letting of the construction contract.

New Drug Eases Up After-Effects Of Taking Anaesthesia

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—A new drug has been reported by the University of Pennsylvania to reduce sharply the unpleasant after-effects of taking anaesthesia.

The university identified the drug as dramamine. It was developed by the husband-and-wife team of Dr. Allan and Dr. Helen Rubin.

In its report the university said: "When dramamine was not administered in advance of anaesthesia, it was noted that more than 60 per cent of patients under observation experienced either nausea or vomiting, or both, as an after-effect of their experiences.

"But when dramamine was used prior to anaesthesia, the incidence of such disturbances was reduced to approximately 25 per cent."

The hospital said the drug is also useful to combat after effects of taking narcotics.

It influences, the university said, "the human body's sense of balance and equilibrium, located in the vestibular passageway and labyrinth of the internal ear."

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Shirley Blanchard, and David Green attended his brother as best man. Ushers were James Marrow and Gerald Bourns, cousins of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a winter white suit with navy accessories and a lavender orchid. Her only jewelry was a necklace that belonged to her grandmother Blanchard. Her attendant wore a navy suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Blanchard chose for her daughter's wedding a navy print dress with pink accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a gray print dress with yellow accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception for 70 guests was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents in Plymouth after which the couple left on a wedding trip to Ohio. Upon their return they will reside at 115 Ballard, Apartment 6, in Ypsilanti.

The bride is a graduate of Manistique high school, class of 1948, and attended Cleary College. The bridegroom graduated from Plymouth high school and is attending Michigan State Normal.

Out-of-town guests came from Plymouth, Milford, St. Clair, Gregory, Detroit, Wayne, Gulliver and South Lyon.

Gladstone, Stephenson Win In Reserve Meet

Eskymos At Manistique; Rapid River At St. Joe

Escanaba high school cagers travel to Manistique Friday night and St. Joseph cagers are at home Saturday night against Rapid River in season semi-finals for both teams.

Both play their last season games at home next week, Escanaba entertaining Kingsford, St. Joseph playing host to St. Paul of Negaunee.

At Manistique Friday night, Coach Steve Baltie's boys will run into one of the most rugged teams in this area in seeking their fourth victory in a row.

Coach Bob Hussey's Emeralds have won 10 games this year, including St. Joseph, Sault Ste. Marie, Newberry, Munising, Stephenson and Menominee among their victims.

Their victory margins over Menominee and Stephenson were larger than Escanaba's bulge over those two teams. The Emeralds are especially effective on their home floor.

Coach Tom St. Germain's boys will be after their thirteenth win of the season Saturday night against Rapid River. They may have their hands full as Coach Norman Slough has a capable ball club that has won 11 games against only five defeats.

Rapid River defeated Bark River-Harris twice by scores comparable to those of the St. Joseph-Bark River games. Slough's boys also defeated Rock by 13 points, a team which St. Joe had difficulty beating by six.

Stagg Still Won't Name Star Teams

STOCKTON, Calif.—(P)—More than 60 years after he was named to the first All-America football team, Amos Alonzo Stagg still is opposed to the idea of such all-star selections.

The dean of coaches, who will be 89 on his next birthday, is adamant in his stand. He has never picked an All-America team and, he says, never will. This was his reply to an invitation by the Associated Press to join other famous football men in making such selections.

"I do not want to single out certain players because I do not think it can be justly done," Stagg said. "However, as long as we do have All-America teams, I hope we have a lot of them. The more people who pick all star teams, the more justice will be done because more players will be named."

The late Walter Camp, incidentally, named Mr. Stagg on his initial All-America team, in 1889. He was a Yale end. A team mate was Walter "Pudge" Heffelfinger.

"In those days, 'Heff' was a crackerjack," the silver-haired patriarch of the coach ranks said. "But he played in a different era and there is no basis for comparing him with modern players."

This was as far as he would go in making even a semblance of a comparison.

When next football season comes around Mr. Stagg expects to be at Susquehanna university in Pennsylvania helping his son, Amos Alonzo, Jr., coach the team.

Notre Dame Five Upsets Favored Billikens, 77-70

NEW YORK—(P)—Notre Dame hasn't lost the faculty of rising to the occasion.

Playing its finest basketball of a dull season, Notre Dame upset St. Louis, rated No. 5 nationally, 77-70 last night.

Previously, the Irish had flubbed the big games and they almost didn't make it this time. It was ND's 11th victory against seven losses and avenged an earlier loss to St. Louis. Dan Bagley, with 31 points, tied Notre Dame's all-time single-game scoring record set by Vince Boryla against Detroit in 1945.

Kentucky smashed Xavier of Ohio, 78 to 51. Bill Spivey, 7-foot center, poured in 40 points. It was Kentucky's 20th victory in 21 starts.

North Carolina State gained revenge by whipping Louisville, 92-78. Louisville had ripped State by 16 points last month.

Stalling Cagers Are Outstalled

MILTON, Ky.—(P)—Bedford high school's basketball team tried stalling tactics last night, hoping to upset Milton, and wound up outstalled.

"We'll slow it down good," Coach Dudley Whitaker told his Milton boys.

Players made like statues with the ball while their mates bunched up to chat. Spectators sang school songs.

Final score: Milton 12, Bedford 7.

Central Baseball Loop Makeup Is Unchanged

DETROIT—(P)—The Central league will open its 1951 baseball season April 25 with the same six clubs that made up the circuit last year.

The 140-game schedule will last 133 days, ending Sept. 9.

Ragelis Nears Scoring Record

Michigan Center In Top Ten Bracket

CHICAGO—(P)—Northwestern's Ray Ragelis has increased his Big Ten individual scoring lead and appears certain to set an all-time conference season record.

Ragelis dipped in 17 points against Michigan State Monday to total 207 in 10 cage games. With four contests yet to play, Ragelis needs only 66 more points to surpass the 12-game record of 272 set by Iowa's Murray Wier in 1948.

Illinois' Don Sunderlage remains in second place on the scoring list with 157 in nine games for a 17.4 average. Ab Nicholas of Wisconsin is third with 149 and a 16.6 average in nine engagements.

Leading scorers:

U. S. Government Enters Golf Fight

HARLINGEN, Tex.—(P)—A verbal spat between the PGA tournament committee and the Mexican Golf association over alleged "recruiting" of American players had the $10,000 Rio Grande valley open in a stew today.

Even the state department at Washington has gotten into the act.

The Valley open was an interested spectator only and some officials said it was enjoying the publicity, but the appearance of a group of American golfers in Mexico City for the Mexican National open had become such a serious matter that the committee members here refused to consider disciplinary action until more of the committee are present.

Demart involved That ought to be next week at Houston, home town of Jimmie Demart, one of the golfers who went to Mexico. It is expected that Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., co-chairman of the committee, will be there for the Houston open.

Two members of the committee, Horton Smith of Detroit, and Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., last night replied to charges of the Mexican golf association that the committee had "revoked or discarded" an agreement in ordering the golfers not to participate in the Mexican national open.

Four members of the committee—Smith, Douglas, Clayton Headner of Charlotte, N. C., and Leonard Gibson of Kansas City in a meeting at San Antonio during the Texas open last week, held that the American golfers would be competing in the Mexican National open in violation of by-laws of the PGA. The reasons: Because it was not a PGA-co-sponsored event, conflicted in dates with the Valley open and was not a "major championship."

Helps Good Will Smith declared that the Mexican Golf association representative, Raul Valde, had said the Mexican National open only wanted a "handful of American players" but that "there was extensive recruiting of players either directly or indirectly at San Antonio."

The state department entered the controversy yesterday when officials said Demart and Vic Ghezzi of Long Island, N. Y., another of the golfing group going to Mexico, were helping the Good Neighbor policy by insisting on playing in the Mexican National open.

The two teams split a series at Houghton two weeks ago, the Spartans winning the first game 4-3 and the Huskies taking the second 4-2.

The Spartan icemen lost two games to Minnesota in their last home stand the past weekend. The second game ended up in a donnybrook when bad blood between the two teams resulted in a last-minute free-for-all on the ice with both benches emptying for the fistfuffs.

Michigan Tech has won five and lost seven to date and Michigan State has a four and eight won and lost record.

DON'T MISS STAR

DETROIT—(P)—The University of Detroit's basketball team packed plenty of power last night without its star center, Norm Swanson, leading scorer in the Missouri Valley conference, who is ineligible. The Titans led all the way to beat the University of Houston 70-61 in a conference game.

Comics Help Parents, College Expert Says

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Instead of causing delinquency, comic strips are a definite aid to parents who want to understand the mental processes of their children.

That's the opinion of David Cole, Occidental college psychologist who has just completed a study of children's preferences in comic strips as related to their personalities. The professor's findings: Children who have the greatest liking for adventure comics are likely to be the ones most "tied down" at home.

Youngsters maladjusted in their home relations were found to prefer escapist funnies—interplanetary war, rocket men and other fantasies.

"In many cases," says Cole, "the comics simply provide a harmless medium where in the child finds a mode of expressing what his home environment has denied him. The delinquency, if any, is not the comic's fault."

Find Discrepancies In Barber Rates

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(AP)—Suburban barbers are complaining about unequal rates which have resulted from a 10-cent increase in the price of haircuts. One said, "Some baldheaded customer comes in downtown and they collect 85 cents. We get a child with three feet of hair and we collect 50 cents. It ain't fair!"

It's Time For TV To Grow Up

Some Of Its Gags Getting Tiresome

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—We of the television audience are not unconscious of the boons of gracious living it has brought into the home, such as the hair piece for all male actors and the bared chest of the lady actors. Plus, of course, the animal acts and their inferiors, most comedians who are morally responsible for the death of vaudeville.

We are grateful for Godfrey, and it is nice, too, that the old 10-day blue shirt has come again into vogue, since the TV cameras adapt badly to the snow-white shirt front. Girl singers of all shapes and quiz shows of all kinds and husbands and wives who have nothing to say to each other ad immeasureably to the rich fullness of the time. The badly executed drama, the movie of hoary vintage, the cowboys and the Indians are fine. I was going to say, too, that even the celebrity shows are passable, but since smuggling myself into one, disguised as Sherman Billingsley, I am not today too sure.

No Longer a Novelty
But it is about time, now, that the television people accept themselves as no longer a novelty, subject to frequent flaw, foolish blub and a sort of dull desperation at being mixed up in the thing at all. It cannot last forever on roller derby and puppet, on dog act and quasi comedian with the Joe Miller approach to humor. Even Hopalong Cassidy may pall. It seems just about time that the camera ceases to be subject to gags in the scrip. We went through the vice-president gag, endlessly, in radio, and not one single listener ever got much of a bang out of a sponsor or a network executive as a piece of comic structure. Everybody's got personal troubles, and you don't have to buy other people's as an adjunct to an evening's entertainment.

Becomes Stock Gags
The TV camera, now, has replaced the vice-president and the sponsor as an involuntary villain. It is a sock gag for the comedian who has written it actively into the act. They derive delicious humor from wrangling with the man who points the thing, and when there is a technical fluff it is ripe for a two-minute tirade from the comedian. Not very funny.

The movies, you know, deal in cameras, too, and rarely interrupt the sequence of a comedy to allow the comedian to work off his animosity at the cameraman. You just accept the camera, in movies. It is here. It is a medium that brings you entertainment. It is not a substitute for the pratfall or Charley's aunt.

THOSE IN UNIFORM

At Mardi Gras
NEW ORLEANS, La.—John N. Copeland, fireman apprentice, USN, of 211 South 10th street, Escanaba, Mich., was among the 100-man crew of the Navy minesweeper Towhee which visited here during the Mardi Gras.

The Towhee, one of three Navy ships here for the celebrations tied up at the New Orleans naval station across the Mississippi river from famed Canal street—center of Tuesday's activities.

Visitors at the same time were a sistership, the USS Sprig, and the aircraft carrier Monterey.

One hundred and fifty sailors marched in some of the Mardi Gras day parades while others attended masquerade balls Tuesday night.

Gay revelers, masked since sunrise on Shrove Tuesday, saw Lindsay A. Larson, Navy hospital corpsman, rule as King of the Krewe of Patria. Climaxing his reign as King of Carnival, the Navy Korean veteran toasted his WAC Queen and her armed forces court from his float in front of New Orleans city hall.

The Towhee left New Orleans Feb. 7 following the abrupt cessation of merry-making at midnight, when the Lenten period began. The ship returns to duty with the Atlantic Fleet's mine force.

mer's mother, Mrs. Hannah Erickson, who suffered a serious head injury in a fall.

Mrs. William Maxwell was called to Chicago Saturday by the serious illness of her aunt, Mrs. Theresa Bovine.

Arvid Major who was taken to the home of his parents in Gladstone Thursday is a patient at the Kee-Dehlin clinic.

New "Mark Trail" Magazine Issued

MINNEAPOLIS—"Mark Trail" Magazine, a new quarterly publication featuring outdoors adventure and the American way of life, will appear on newsstands beginning February 16. The 64-page magazine takes its name from the well-known newspaper and radio hero created by artist Ed Dodd.

Editors of "Mark Trail" stress that it will not be a comics-type publication, but will contain stories on hunting and fishing, profiles on nature, wild animal picture-stories, outdoor-adventure fiction, and how-to articles on subjects of interest to boys and young men. Picture-stories will predominate.

The idea for an outdoor-adventure magazine for boys and young men stems from a trio of personalities well known in the field of publishing and advertising: Ed Dodd, creator of "Mark Trail"; Ted Kesting, brilliant young editor of "Sports Afield"; and Jack Cornelius, advertising executive with the New York agency, Batten Barton Durstine & Osborn.

Mutually interested in the outdoors, this three-man team got together to fill a reading need among the youth of the nation. The result is "Mark Trail" magazine, a publication that will—in the words of Editor Ted Kesting—have two dominant aims: (1) to encourage our youth in the enjoyment and conservation of the outdoors, and (2) impress them with the advantages of the American way of life. No other magazine on the newsstands, Kesting and his two associates believe, is currently serving these important and timely purposes.
